National Association of the Terminally Ill provides financial assistance for the victims and families of those who have been inflicted with a terminal illness and have a life expectancy of less than six months. NATI's goal is to help all families regain financial independence. By assisting with telephone bills, home/auto repairs, electric bills, rent/mortgage, grocery vouchers, and medications NATI hopes to prevent families in a considerable health crisis not fall victim to a financial crisis.

The donors of National Association of the Terminally Ill are an excellent target for health, disease and hospital related organizations.
